DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

1. 35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

2. Claim 25, 29-35 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention is directed to non-statutory subject matter. Claims 25, 29-35 are computer programs.

Per MPEP 2106.01:

Data structures not claimed as embodied in computer-readable media are descriptive material per se and are not statutory because they are not capable of causing functional change in the computer. See, e.g., Warmerdam, 33 F.3d at 1361, 31 USPQ2d at 1760 (claim to a data structure per se held nonstatutory). Such claimed data structures do not define any structural and functional interrelationships between the data structure and other claimed aspects of the invention which permit the data structure's functionality to be realized. In contrast, a claimed computer-readable medium encoded with a data structure defines structural and functional interrelationships between the data structure and the computer software and hardware components which permit the data structure's functionality to be realized, and is thus statutory.

Since the instant specification, on paragraphs 78,81 and 89, notes that the invention could be implemented as software, the claims to system could be directed to the software alone of the software implementation.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

3. 35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

4. Claim 37,38 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention is directed to non-statutory subject matter.

Claims 37,38 are not limited to tangible embodiments. In view of Applicant's disclosure, as shown in the specification in paragraph 82, the medium is not limited to tangible embodiments, instead being defined as including both tangible embodiments and intangible embodiments (e.g., transmission media such as acoustic, optical or electromagnetic waves). As such, the claim is not limited to statutory subject matter and is therefore non-statutory. (See 1300 OG 142: Interim guidelines for Examination of Patent Applications for Patent Subject Matter Eligibility; Annex IV (c), published 22 November 2005).

Allowable Subject Matter

5. Claims 1, 5-14, 18-24, 36 are allowed.

Claims are allowed for the reasons presented in applicant's response.

Response to Amendment

6. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 25, 29-35, 37,38 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Art Unit: 2618

7. Note that the rejections can only be overcome by amending the specification, not the claims.

Conclusion

8. The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.

9. Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to PHILIP J. SOBUTKA whose telephone number is (571)272-7887. The examiner can normally be reached Monday through Friday from Monday - Friday, 8:30am - 5:00pm.

10. The central fax phone number for the Office is 571-273-8300.
